

"DRY" ELEMENT SUFFERS DEFEAT AT MEXICO CITY

Mexico City.—The "dry" element of the Mexican government, have just suffered defeat in an attempt to close the cantinas or saloons on Saturday nights and Sundays. The "wets" comprising some 2,000 cantina owners and their patrons are rejoicing. The government has strong "dry" leanings, the chief executive being alleged to favor prohibition and E. Pinlarco Calles, minister of war, being known throughout the republic as a "bone dry" advocate. Several weeks ago a presidential decree closed all places where liquor was sold from Saturday night at 6 o'clock until Monday morning at 7. This edict had a depressing effect upon Saturday night revelry. More than two thousand local vendors of liquor signed a request that the government be legally restrained from enforcing the decree. After the question was violently agitated in the newspapers, the supreme court handed down a decision which virtually granted the request of the "wets" by naming several hundred cafes and cantinas where liquor might be sold over Sunday. This order was later expanded to include all cafes and cantinas and the "estado seco" (dry state) is a myth so far as the capital is concerned.

President de la Huerta's "dry" decree was the subject of much editorial comment in the newspapers. Handbills and placards were distributed on the main streets ridiculing the measure by burlesquing it. For instance, one bill carried a purported decree granting prohibition from sunset to sunrise on Monday.

All the above are the news from Mexico City.
